

Position

Volunteer Photographer

Summary Description

CRC is looking for a photographer to help capture local nature scenes and organizational events. This photographer will help us tell the story of Seeley Lake and CRC. Sometimes the photographer will be asked to capture a specific scene in nature (eg. a photo of beavers to be used for a workshop). Other times the photographer will work collaboratively with CRC to identify images that will help bring publications to life. Occasionally, the photographer will be asked to attend a CRC event and take photos.

Note - photo credit will always be given to the photographer if a photo is used in any publication.

Duties/Responsibilities

- collaborate with CRC staff to identify beneficial photos
- take photographs
- catalog photos in CRC's database
- attend CRC events when available to take photos
- attend CRC staff meetings when available

Time Commitment

Varies depending on availability and events

Requirements

- some amateur (hobbyist) or professional photography experience
- access to a camera
- willingness to collaborate with CRC staff

Training/Supervision

The photographer will be supervised by Amanda Zelnis (CRC's watershed coordinator). The photographer will have regularly scheduled check in meetings to review photos and brainstorm new photo ideas.

Benefits

- explore the Clearwater Valley through a new lens
- help shape the CRC story and narrative
- sharpen your photography skills
- engage with fellow volunteers
- CRC's annual volunteer picnic

Roles are flexible! Please inquire with any interest!
